Currently-Existing Resource(s) to be Revised / Ancillaries Created	http://getlibraryhelp.highlands.edu/biol1020
Project Description	The goals of the revision for this course is to use a program called SoftChalk to incorporate all resources for each unit into one web template that can be used by faculty at any institution. Each unit will provide self-guided tutorials, short lecture videos, and embedded activities and self-assessments. The intention is to create an end product whereby students do not have to access resources in different location within an LMS.
Timeline and Personnel	Timeline: Summer 2019 – (1) Obtain a copy of the program SoftChalk (Tom Harnden), (2) review the course elements of BIOL 1020 (Tom Harnden), (3) create a general template for all units (Katie Bridges). Fall 2019 – Using SoftChalk, design and develop all eight units, each with (1) content information, (2) visuals (diagrams, photos, and videos), (3) self-assessments, and (4) relevant activities (Tom Harnden and Katie Bridges). Spring (2020) – Offer and teach BIOL 1020 (Tom Harnden) May (2020) – assess course content and activities and make necessary adjustments

	(Tom Harnden and Katie Bridges)  Fall (2020) – Offer and teach BIOL 1020 as well as advertise to USG institutions the ability to acquire free templates to the course (Tom Harnden).
Budget	Subject Matter Expert - Tom Harnden ($2000), Instructional Designer - Katie Bridges ($2000), and computer program SoftChalk ($800)
